Douglas

Thank you very much for this update on the work of your Environmental Adviser.

What date is Biomass UK No2 working towards for bringing the plant into operation? We want to understand whether the intention is to begin operation before the EIA work is complete.

Many thanks

Hywel

Hi Hywel

Just to keep you informed, the following is the timetable our Environmental Adviser is working to following his conversation with you. I understand this is a 'maximum' and that they are looking to try and conclude in the next 4 to 5 weeks:

Completion of the technical review work to identify which technical assessments need updating, and any new ones required.	14 th of June
Instruction of consultant team to carry out technical work (updates to existing technical work such as air, noise, visual) where appropriate	17 th of June
Updates to technical work complete (4 weeks)	19 th July
Draft EIA for review	26 th of July
Target for final EIA complete, subject to client reviews etc	2 nd August

Kind regards

Douglas

Hywel

As just discussed, the currently anticipated point at which the next stage of commissioning will continue involving operating the plant is around the end of July, subject to slippage.

This phase will involve intermittent start-ups and shut-downs and can be expected to continue through until the end of September, again, subject to slippage. Handover by the contractors would therefore be in October at the earliest.

Kind regards

Douglas

Hywel, I've just received the following feedback from Steve Butler who you spoke to:

All of the reviews have been done, all of the gaps have been identified and all of the consultants are appointed to provide their amended words / EIA sections etc. The Planning Statement is largely complete as well. They are running about two weeks behind at the moment, so all work should be completed and submitted by mid-August.

Kind regards

Douglas

Could you let me know once you have successfully downloaded the Report - if you have any difficulty downloading this, please let me know.

I look forward to receiving any comments or feedback and in any case it would be helpful to understand how you now see things proceeding.

Kind regards

Douglas
