Mental Health Act 1983

Section 135: Admission of Persons Removed by Police Under a Court Warrant

You have been brought to:

Date and time your detention under section 135 began:

Why have I been brought to a hospital?

You have been brought to this hospital under section 135 of the Mental Health Act 1983. This means that a magistrate has issued a warrant saying that a police officer can bring you here and that you can be kept here even if you don't want to come.

The warrant has been issued because an approved mental health professional thinks that you have a mental disorder and that you may need treatment and care.

An approved mental health professional is someone who has been specially trained to help decide whether people need to be in hospital.

If the police officer has safety concerns they are allowed to search you if they reasonably believe that you have an item on your person that could be used to hurt yourself or others.

How long will I be here?

You can be kept here (or in another place of safety) for 24 hours from:

- where you are removed to a place of safety, the time when you arrive at that place; or
- where you are kept at the premises specified in the warrant, the time when the police officer first enters the premises to execute the warrant, so that you can be seen by a doctor and approved mental health professional.

If the doctor and the approved mental health professional agree that you need to remain in hospital, a second doctor may be asked to see you to confirm their decision.

In some situations, a doctor will be able to give permission for you to be kept at, or removed to another place of safety for another 12 hours. The maximum period of time that you can be kept at any place of safety under section 135 is 36 hours.

During the time allowed for you to be kept at the place of safety you must not leave unless a doctor tells you that you can go.

If you try to leave the staff can stop you and if you leave, you can be brought back.

If the doctor and an approved mental health professional have not seen you by the end of the 24 (or sometimes 36) hours, you will be free to leave.

However, you may decide to stay on a voluntary basis. If you do want to leave, please talk to a doctor first.

What happens next?

When the doctor and an approved mental health professional have seen you, they may say that you need to stay in hospital for longer. They will tell you why and for how long this is likely to be. You will be given another leaflet that explains what will happen.

Can I appeal?

No. Even if you do not agree that you need to be in hospital, you cannot appeal against the decision to keep you at the hospital under section 135.

Will I be given treatment?

The doctor will tell you about and discuss any treatment they think you need. You have the right to refuse any treatment you do not want.

Only in special circumstances, which would be explained to you can you be given treatment you do not agree to.

How do I complain?

If you want to raise a concern or make a complaint about any part of your care and treatment in hospital, please speak to the person in charge of the hospital unit that you have been brought to, or a nurse or social worker. They might be able to sort it out. If you are not satisfied with their response you can write to the Hospital Managers at the following address (information to be added locally):

If you are not satisfied with the response from the Hospital Managers, you can contact the Review Service for Mental Health. This service was set up to make sure that the mental health law is used properly and that patients are cared for properly whilst they are in hospital.

You can contact them by phone, in writing or by email at:

Letting Your Nearest Relative Know

A copy of this leaflet will be given to the person the Mental Health Act says is your nearest relative. We have been told your Nearest Relative is:

If you do not want this person to receive a copy of this leaflet, please tell the member of staff who is explaining this to you or another member of staff.

For more information about the role of the Nearest Relative and what rights they have please ask for a copy of the Nearest Relative leaflet.

Changing your Nearest Relative

If you do not think this person is suitable to be your Nearest Relative, you can apply to the County Court for someone else to be treated as your nearest relative instead. The hospital staff can give you a leaflet that explains this.

Code of Practice for Wales

The Code of Practice for Wales gives advice to staff about the Mental Health Act 1983. They have to think about what the Code says when they take decisions about your care. You can ask to look at a copy of the Code or you can ask for a copy of the 'Peace of Mind' booklet on the Code of Practice for Wales.

Further information and help

If there is anything you do not understand about your care and treatment, a member of staff will try to help you. Please ask a member of staff to explain if there is anything in this leaflet you do not understand or if you have other questions that this has not answered.
